

Epoxy dispensing Tools

Epoxy dispensing tools are designed for precision adhesive dispensing in die bonding processes using compressed air control. Multiple tip geometries and specifications are available for different chip sizes, dispensing volumes, and process requirements. The internal flow channel is finished with high-precision processing to ensure stable epoxy flow, improved dispensing consistency, and reduced clogging or tailing during production.

