

Epoxy stamping Tools

Epoxy stamping tools are designed for high-speed and uniform adhesive transfer from the epoxy plate to the die attach position on lead frames and substrates. Multiple geometries and custom configurations are available to optimize dispensing precision, throughput, and process consistency in semiconductor packaging applications. Materials include stainless steel and tungsten carbide to meet different wear resistance, adhesive control, and production requirements.

